Local Government Pension Scheme
Fact Sheet – LGPS Contributions

What do I pay?

The rate of contributions are based on your actual pensionable pay. There are nine different contribution rates ranging from 5.5% to 12.5% - see the table below. Your employer will assess the rate of your contributions for each employment based on your actual pay.

The pay bands and the rates that apply from April 2017

Pay Bands	Contribution Rates
Up to £13,700	5.5%
£13,701 - £21,400	5.8%
£21,401 - £34,700	6.5%
£34,701 - £43,900	6.8%
£43,901 - £61,300	8.5%
£61,301 - £86,800	9.9%
£86,801 - £102,200	10.5%
£102,201 - £153,300	11.4%

Local Government Pension Scheme

He will now pay contributions on his actual pay which includes non-contractual overtime (£21,000). This also means the pay used to work out his pension is higher.

Actual Pensionable Pay	£47,000

And remember …
You receive tax relief on your pension contributions. To achieve this, your contributions are deducted from your pay before you pay tax.

Flexibility to pay less – the new 50/50 option

From April 2014 a new option in the scheme called '50/50' was introduced. You can elect for this option at any time, pay half your normal contributions and build up half your normal pension.

How does 50/50 work?
There are now two sections in the scheme – the main section and the 50/50 section.

The main section of the scheme is the section you will be placed in. In that section, you pay normal contributions and get the normal pension build up.

The 50/50 section is a new option. You will be able to elect to move to this section if you wish. If you do so, you will then pay half contributions but, whilst you are in the 50/50 section, you will only be building up half the normal pension. If you have more than one employment you can elect for the 50/50 option in one, some or all your employments.

Regardless of the section you are in, you get full life assurance cover.

Who can elect for 50/50?
Any member can elect to pay into the 50/50 section at any time. An election form to join this section can be downloaded from www.bromley.gov.uk/lgps or obtained from the Pension Team.

How long can you remain in the 50/50 section?
The 50/50 section is designed to be a short-term option for when times are tough financially. Because of this your employer is required to re-enrol you back into the main section of the scheme every three years. This will be carried out in line with your employer's automatic re-enrolment date. Your employer will tell you when this is if you're in the 50/50 section of the scheme. If you wish to continue in the 50/50 section at that point you would need to make another election to remain in that section.

You can choose to revert back to the main section of the scheme at any time by informing your employer in writing and you will then start to build up full benefits in the main section from your next available pay period.

50/50 – An example

Let's take a look at Susan and compare her being in the main section to the 50/50 section of the scheme for one year.

	Main Section	50/50 Section
Actual Pensionable Pay	£24,500	£24,500
Contribution Rate	6.5%	3.25%
Gross Contribution Amount for 1 year (before tax relief)	£1,592.50	£796.25
Pension built up in 1 year (payable every year in retirement)	£500	£250
Lump Sum Life Assurance cover	£73,500	£73,500

Susan would pay less in contributions in the 50/50 section – 3.25% instead of 6.5% and she would build up half the pension in the 50/50 section, £250, payable every year in retirement, compared to a pension of £500 if she was in the main section.

But remember, the value of any lump sum life assurance cover payable (three times annual pensionable pay) remains the same regardless of which section of the scheme Susan pays into.

Flexibility to pay more – increasing your benefits

If you want to make additional pension savings to increase your pension benefits there are two tax efficient ways to do so. These are Additional Voluntary Contributions (AVCs) and Additional Pension Contributions (APCs).

Additional Voluntary Contributions (AVCs)

AVCs allow you to pay more to build up extra savings for retirement. From 1 April 2014 your contributions to an AVC arrangement were no longer limited to 50% of your pay, so you can, if you wish, pay up to 100% of your pay towards an AVC, after allowing for any tax and National Insurance liability or any other existing deductions you may have.

Contact Liberata for more information on the AVC fund(s) offered by the London Borough of Bromley.

Additional Pension Contributions (APCs)

You can buy extra pension by paying APCs regularly, over a period of time, or you can buy extra pension by paying in a one-off lump sum. The maximum amount of additional pension you can buy is currently £6,675 (this figure will increase each year in line with the cost of living).

The amount it costs depends on how much extra pension you want to buy, the age you start paying the extra contributions and the length of time you want to pay them for.

In the new scheme you can only buy extra pension for yourself and not for additional dependants' benefits.

Contact Liberata for more information on APCs and a quotation if you are interested in this option.

Shared Cost APCs

In the new scheme, there is also the option of Shared Cost APCs.

Shared Cost APCs cover the amount of pension "lost" during periods of unpaid additional Maternity, Adoption and Paternity leave or periods of unpaid authorised leave of absence.

Shared cost means that if you want to cover such a period, the cost of buying the "lost" pension is shared between you and your employer, with your employer meeting 2/3rds of the cost (provided you make an election to buy the "lost" pension within 30 days of returning to work). Shared cost APCs can be a one off lump sum or regular amount over a period of time.

Contact Liberata for more information on APCs and a quotation if you are interested in this option.
